

(Name/Business)* honoured at Sub36 Awards 2020

Lancashire's young business people celebrated on Thursday 22 October at the Sub36 Awards 2020 virtual ceremony, where they honoured the county's most influential, innovative and inspiring young men and women in business.

Taking place virtually via Zoom, winners across 14 categories were revealed on the night including Commitment to Skills Award, Go Green Award, Lancastrian of the Year Award and Sub36 Hero Award.

Amongst them was (Name/business/location), winner of the (Award name) award.

(Name/business) said: "(INSERT QUOTE)"

The awards are organised by Lancashire Business View – the magazine for commerce, industry and regeneration who have been connecting the county since 2005.

Richard Slater, publisher of Lancashire Business View, said: "Sub36 started life as a feature in the magazine and we had so many fantastic stories that it became obvious we needed to honour them properly.

"Since then Sub36 has grown to a programme of quarterly networking events and awards programme to celebrate the best of the best which has proved very popular.

"Not only do winners get a trophy to display proudly, but they also get access to our bespoke mentoring programme provided by our mentoring partner Northern Mentoring Programme which will support their growth and development. They also get access to growth funding from our funding partner Rosebud and sales support from sales academy sponsor, Sales Geek."

Headline sponsor of the awards is Positive Pennine, the mentoring partner is Northern Mentoring Programme and the funding partner is Rosebud. The awards are also sponsored by Bigtank Video Productions, Lancashire Skills and Employment Hub, PDS Engineering, Sales Geek, True Bearing Financial Planners and Two Zero.
